

Preferred products – how can I specify the default products for my search?

Using the Settings/Preferred button you can specify which dpa products are selected by default when you carry out a standard search. Select the required products by ticking the box alongside the list shown and then click on Save Now. The selected products will always be included in your search. If you wish to widen the search in order to access more products you must do this in the section marked Advanced Search.

Navigation: dpa Today | My Home Page | My Searches | My Folders | Settings | Extras | Help | X Logout

Current location: Settings > Preferred Products

Preferred Products

Here you can specify which products are selected by default when you carry out an initial search. You can always widen a search to access all the products that are activated for your account.

Simply select the products you would like to include in your default search, and then click on "Save now".
